

Monday, September 25, 2017

Dear Joel,

On behalf of the Commuter Student Association, I would like to warmly extend our most humble gratitude for your presentation at Siena College during Commuter Appreciation Week.

We highly encourage any College or University to facilitate your engagement with their students. The way you connected with the students during your presentation was incredibly powerful and yet gentle, allowing for thoughtfulness and decision making without judgement. The use of your bracelets and offering ways to change behavior is effective and provides the call to action that is realistic. The feedback from students was extremely positive and it was eye opening to several of them. Your approach and information was well suited for college students as was your suggestions of how they could help promote change with their family and friends.

Our hope is that the message you so eloquently shared about the Casey Feldman Foundation will continue to spread to all, will create change and end distracted driving in honor of Casey and to prevent the loss of any other lives.

Peace & Good,

Dyann Serravillo
Advisor, Siena College Commuter Student Association